

Facts regarding Johannah's drunken child-endangering behavior

~ by John Wilkenson ~

For a more detailed presentation of the timeline of the sequence of events, see my essay titled “Mesa County District Court cases 96 DR 372 and 96 JV 180” at <http://johnwilkenson.com/?q=node/1306>.

While Johannah had repeatedly been domestically violent against Dave, he didn't become aware of the extreme seriousness of the problem until Johannah drove off the road drunk on Glade Park, and got so angry that she beat the windows out of the car with a tire iron while Toby was still in the car. Johannah lied about the incident and told Dave that someone had shot at her while she was driving.

Having suspected Johannah was lying, Dave told Johannah he was going to seek intervention for her chronic drunk driving child-endangering behavior.

Johannah left home and went to Latimer House and lied to the feminazis there that she was afraid for her and the children's lives.

In accordance with classic misandristic feminazi strategy, unnamed workers at Latimer House helped Johannah get a Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) against Dave and file for a divorce.

After the feminazi's third try for a TRO, Judge Nick Massaro granted a TRO preventing Dave from seeing Johannah and/or her kids.

Dave's now-retired lawyer – (who told me when I ran into him at Walmart recently, “Boy your brother sure got Fed! I warned them that woman was crazy!”) – filed an ex parte Motion for a TRO and to have Ben and Toby Wilkenson put in the temporary custody of MCDHS (hereinafter “DHS”).

Massaro granted Dave's motion and took the kids away from Johannah, who was living at Latimer House at that time.

DHS called Dave and asked him where he thought the kids should be placed. Dave told DHS that the kids should be placed at my Mom and Dad's home.

The kids were placed with Mom and Dad.

Johanna promptly called my busybody sister Anita and told her the kids had been taken away from her.

At about 7:30 AM, Anita, in conspiracy with Johannah (and ostensibly my brother Daniel Wilkenson and John Vieira) called the DHS hotline and falsely reported to DHS that the kids were in grave danger because she (Anita) had suffered physical abuse at the hands of Mom and Dad and sexual abuse at the hands of Dad during childhood. This was a completely evil deliberate lie designed to “tweak” DHS against Dave behind the scenes and unbeknownst to Dave.

DHS called my then-pastor-at-Liberty-Baptist-Church brother Daniel for confirmation.

Dan, lying through his manipulative “man of God” teeth, confirmed the alleged physical abuse, but not the sexual abuse. Interested persons can read the truth about our parents child-discipline philosophy at <http://bit.ly/1GWBU1R>.

DHS never contacted me, Dave, Mom or Dad. Apparently they had already made up their minds based on false reporting.

At about 9:00 AM the same day (Saturday), DHS came out to Mom and Dad's house, picked up the kids and took them to my brother Dan's house despite the fact that Dan spanked his own children, and, at the school he was principle of, spanked the kids more severely than any of us had been punished by Mom and Dad in childhood. In fact, one spanking Dan administered to student Christopher Bercume was so severe that it wound up in court and in the Daily Sentinel. Additionally, Daniel was taking medication to prevent psychotic episodes.

When picking up the children (Ben and Toby Wilkenson, and their half-brother, Tom Sowerby), Joni Vohs, yet-to-be mother of Mesa County's infamous “Potty Peeper” unfairly read Dave the riot act for endangering the children by recommending that they be placed in an abusive household. Joni didn't have the first stinking clue about what she was talking about. She had been spun by lies due to her failure to do her job. She hadn't talked to Dave, me or Mom or Dad about the false reporting against them by Anita and Dan. Instead, she rushed recklessly to judgment in complete disregard for the facts of the case. She believed what her feminazi world view wanted her to hear. To her, the truth was irrelevant.

The kids were taken from Mom and Dad on a Saturday. The following Monday, all of the following happened within probably less than two hours:

1. The feminazis were livid that Massaro had granted Dave's ex parte motion to remove the kids from Latimer House.
2. DHS lied to Massaro that Dave had recommended that the kids be place with Mom and Dad who, according to the false reporting by Anita and Dan, turned out to be an abusive household. That, of course was actually a criminally perpetrated lie.)
3. Massaro, acting in accordance with the false reports by DHS and the perjurious TRO affidavits by Johannah (aka “Nutso”) illegally acted as his own “referral source” and, in express violation of , initiated the jurisdictionless legal-nullity case No. 96-JV-180.
4. Massaro scheduled a jurisdictionless legal-nullity shelter hearing in the jurisdictionless legal-nullity case No. 96-JV-180 which was presided over by Judge Amanda Bailey due to prior time commitments by Massaro. As said previously, this entire chain of events (points 1-4) took only about two hours.
5. At the jurisdictionless legal-nullity shelter hearing, it was determined to continue DHS custody of the kids, the kids would remain at Dan's house, and the Dependency and Neglect (D&N) case would be pursued against Dave, Nutso, and Paul Sowerby (Tom Sowerby's British-citizen father), and that whatever evaluations the court wanted would be implemented regarding Dave and Nutso, but not against Paul Sowerby because he lived outside the country. It was also determined that a guardian ad litem would be appointed for the kids.

After only one week, Dan decided he couldn't handle the kids, so they were placed in foster care. Of course, Dan blamed the parents rather than his own ignorant meddling.

Dave and Nutso went through all the evaluations required by DHS.

(NOTE: The jurisdiction of a D&N case runs for 6 months at a time. In that 6 months the parents have to accomplish all the things required by DHS to prove that they are appropriate parents. In D&N cases, DHS basically operates in 6-month blocks of time during which they do an assessment of the progress made by the parents to determine whether or not they are going to dismiss the D&N petition, whether they are going to extend the time of DHS's supervision over the parents and whatever progress they may be making, or whether to declare/find that the children are dependent and neglected and take them away from the parents altogether and make them wards of the state.)

DHS required Dave to attend parenting classes (which he did), but made no other finding requirements of Dave.

At the time of the D&N petition – (the petition is the official complaint against the parents in a quasi-criminal D&N case) – filed by Vlaerie Robison (then-Assistant Mesa County Attorney), Nutso had a pending DUI charge against her in Mesa County Court, Judge Art Smith presiding.

Part of the DHS's requirements for Nutso (which Dave knows about) was that she attend parenting classes, that she deal with the DUI case, that she go through drug and alcohol evaluations and submit to random UAs (urine analyses). Plus she had to go through a parent-child interaction evaluation. After that evaluation, there were treatments she had to go through where counselors go to observe and advise her interaction with the children.

The parent-child interaction evaluator observed that Ben and Toby showed no sign that they had bonded with their mother. The parent-child interaction evaluator also noted that the children demonstrated a normal bond with Dave.

DHS conducted weekly meetings with Dave, but met more often than weekly with Nutso.

At some point, the children were taken out of foster care and returned equally to both parents.

The next event of consequence was Johannah, who had been drinking “borrowed” – (the car's owner knew Johannah didn't have a driver's license) – a friend's car and drove drunk to Dave's house on Glade Park, leaving the children with an unauthorized and unknown baby sitter.

(NOTE: DHS knew she was driving drunk, which is why they were looking for her and/or the children, and couldn't find the children. Later, DHS was able to contact her somewhere.)

Dave called DHS and told them that Johannah was driving drunk without the kids while they were supposed to be in her care.

While Dave was calling DHS, Johannah left on foot.

Presumably Johannah persuaded somebody to give her a ride into town, where she was contacted by DHS. She knew the way to my sister Anita's house and could have walked there. She was also friends with another Glade Park resident who lived about the same distance from Dave's house as Anita did. Johannah could also have hitch hiked a ride to town.

DHS called Dave and told him that they had contacted Johannah and found the kids.

Based on Johannah's drunken, car-stealing, D&N-treatment-violating, probation-violating behavior, Valerie Robison filed a motion to give Dave sole custody of the kids.

About a week later – after who knows what kind of, or how many, manipulations by the feminazi culture pandemic at DHS – Valerie Robison withdrew her motion to give Dave sole custody as having been “improvidently made”.

The next noteworthy event was the DHS deciding to extend the D&N petition for another 6 months, citing as grounds Nutso's drunken behavior and leaving the kids with an unauthorized babysitter, and citing Dave for having a gun (under the front seat) in the car. DHS never told Dave not to have a gun in the car, they just ordered him to take more parenting classes (as if having a gun in the car was somehow relevant to more parenting classes).

The next important event was Catherine Burkey illegally filing a motion for child support from Dave to Nutso in the jurisdictionless legal-nullity Title 19 D&N case No. 96-JV-180.
