Dear Requestor:

Case files maintained by our county Child Support Enforcement (CSE) units are not considered public records, and are therefore not covered under the Colorado Open Records Act contained in Title 24, Article 72, of the Colorado Revised Statutes (C.R.S.). According to the statutes governing Colorado's CSE program, contained in C.R.S. §26-13-102.7, "The child support enforcement agency and the delegate child support enforcement units shall make every effort to preserve the integrity and confidentiality of the informational data obtained from other sources about the support obligor and obligee and the informational data provided to any other source about such individuals. The child support enforcement agency and the delegate child support enforcement units shall share only the minimum amount of information required by law and by means that are most capable of preserving the integrity and confidentiality of the information or data about the individual." Therefore, county CSE units will only provide you copies of documentation in their case files that were provided by you personally. This statute precludes them from providing you with any information obtained from other sources.

As for court cases, those records would be with the Mesa County District Court.

Other than the child support enforcement files, which are confidential except to the parties involved, Mesa County does not possess any other documents that are responsive to your request.
